Remedial massage is highly effective in reducing muscle tension allowing the body to relax.

Student training

South Metropolitan TAFE's remedial massage students are trained over 12 months in order to become a competent remedial therapist. During their training students learn techniques in:

- Deep tissue massage
- Manual lymph drainage
- Myofascial release
- Trigger point practice
- Relaxation massage
- Sports injury and stress management

Students are required to undertake comprehensive assessments on clients and are trained in assisting clients with lifestyle management techniques, such as stretching for postural awareness.

What can you expect from a remedial massage session?

A remedial massage is different from other massages. This type of massage is specifically designed to meet the needs of individual clients condition or symptoms. Performed in a private environment, these massage sessions usually last one hour, including individual assessment and massage time.

Cost: $40
